Senate Votes to Kill Tax on Freight, Travel

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances appear to favor congressional agreement on elimination of the federal tax on freight despite administration opposition.

The Senate late Friday voted to erase the 3 per cent levy on freight and the 10 per cent tax on passenger fares in passing a bill to continue for another year present rates on all major excises and the 52 per cent tax on corporation profits. In the absence of extension legislation, these rates would drop automatically on July 1.

The action sent the bill to conference with the House, which earlier voted to continue all taxes at present rates.

But in advance of conferences to compromise Senate-House differences, there were signs pointing to House retreat in favor of canceling the tax on passenger fares. There appeared to be little prospect, however, for agreement on canceling the tax on passenger tickets.

Transportation excises now bring in 700 million dollars a year. President Eisenhower wants these and other taxes continued on grounds the government needs the revenue.

The Treasury estimates the government will avoid a revenue loss of $2.6 billion dollars a year if all taxes, including those on transportation, are continued.

House Democratic tax leaders were noncommittal about prospective House action in conference. However, strong pressures have been brought to bear on leaders in favor of both transportation and automobile excise taxes. But, informed members said they believed the House group would yield in the case of the Senate approved freight tax cancellation in the final show down.

Two top Republican members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said in separate interviews they favor repeal of the transportation tax. Both will be House conferees.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, senior committee Republican, said he is for inclusion of one of the freight excise repeal in small business legislation now being worked out by the committee.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) joined Reed in favoring post-ponement of transportation tax repeal until it can be included in the small business bill.

Big Advance in Cancer Research Made

HONEY HARBOUR, Ont. (AP) — A major advance in cancer research was reported today by a U.S. woman scientist who said she has used a single virus to cause many types of cancer in experimental animals.

Dr. Sarah R. Stewart of the National Cancer Institute at Bethesda, Md., told the Canadian Cancer Research Congress she has induced as many as 20 different types of cancer in mice using a virus extracted from a single type of tumor-leukemia or blood cancer.

Her paper gave support to the long-held theory that cancer is transmitted by a virus. These disease-producing agents in other forms are known to be responsible for polio, influenza and measles. While some of Dr. Stewart's colleagues had reservations about the importance of her work, Dr. Arthur W. Ham, head of biological research at the Ontario Cancer Institute in Toronto, described it as "the most stimulating thing that has happened in cancer research in years."

The gray-haired woman scientist's seven years of work is expected to lead to a great concentration of research on virus causation of cancer in general. She herself said she could not say how soon her findings can be applied to human cancer. She explained it will first have to be shown that a virus causes certain types of human cancer and this has not been established.

Weather

ARKANSAS — Temperatures near normal to 2 to 4 degrees above normal. Normal minima 65 to 75 and normal maxima 80 to 90. Only minor rain chances. Precipitation moderate to heavy from occasional thunder showers.

HISTORY AND MONEY—Janet Marshall made Air Force history when she became the first woman to be commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the Women's Air Force under the new Reserve Officers Training Corps program. And Sgt. Gerald C. Purcell, of Superior, Neb., hit on an old but easy way to make a few dollars. Lieutenant Marshall, you see, will have to pay Sergeant Purcell one dollar for his being the first enlistee to man a salute bar after she received her commission at George Washington University. From the looks of that fistful of dollar bills, Purcell has been doing a land-office business. Miss Marshall, 21, is from Honolulu, T.H.

You Have to Literally Get Into the Swim of Things

By Mary Anita Laessle

Can you get "in the swim of things"? Literally, I mean.

In other words, do you know how to swim? People all over the world enjoy what can be labeled either sport, art, exercise, or relaxation. Swimming fits any or all of these names.

That is because swimming can be a form of pure pleasure or a terrifying experience, depending on what you make it.

Some people are afraid of water in any amount larger than a cupful, while others aren't afraid of it at all. Neither extreme is good, for there is such a thing as healthy fear that produces reasonable caution.

Common sense will tell you: Never swim alone, never swim in unfamiliar natural waters, never swim until exhausted, and never swim immediately after eating.

There are those who don't swim because they have never learned and have no desire to learn. In 94 cases out of 10 that is a mistake.

You never know when an emergency might arise making it necessary for you to know how to swim. If you have ever learned the process of staying afloat under your own power, that knowledge can not be lost and could prove to be very helpful as well.

Nothing can compare with the relaxed, personal power enjoyed in gliding smoothly through the water by your own energy.

It is a glorious feeling which can be experienced by anyone, regardless of age or size. The argument of "you can't teach an old dog new tricks" is no good because dogs are born swimmers and humans are never too old to learn.

It looks ridiculous in a bathing suit, is often heard, "Who knows? That may be true, but it shouldn't keep you from swimming. People have gone swimming even when the costume of the era made EVERYONE look ridiculous in a bathing suit."

Once in a while you'll find an Esther Williams or a Johnny Weissmuller, but not often is there a person who looks good both in and out of the water. And this is an "IN the water" article.

I warn you, don't say, "That's why you're 'all wet.'"

Bank Robbers Get $105,000
ERIC, Pa. (AP) — Three men waving snub-nosed pistols grabbed $105,000 in a bank holdup today after warning employees to obey orders or have their throats cut.

The holdup men struck shortly before 9 a.m. at the South Side branch of the Union Bank of Erie, about a mile from Erie's mid-city business district.

U.S. Still Trying to Arrange Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sent a new note to Moscow today in an effort to speed final arrangements for opening talks July 1 at Geneva on ways of policing a nuclear test.

The note was reported to name the full panel of scientists who would represent the Western side in technical talks with a group of Communist scientific experts drawn from the Soviet Union, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Western side, it was reported, will be represented by scientists from the United States, Britain, France, and Canada.

Negro Named to New Civil Rights Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two consultants, one a Negro, were named today to handle public information for the Civil Rights Commission.

They are Thomas W. Young, Negro president and general manager of the Guide Publishing Co., Norfolk, Va., and Malcolm E. Oliver, formerly a news reporter here for the International News Service.

Their appointments were announced by Gordon M. Tiffany, staff director, who said they are expected to become full-time employees. He added their precise titles will be determined when the organization of the commission is completed in July. Salaries also will be set at that time, with the two temporarily being paid on a per day basis.

Soil Bank Checks Being Sent Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Checks have started moving to farmers for retiring cropland this year under the 680 million dollar acreage reserve part of the soil bank program.

First payments are going to participating farmers in the South who planted less than their allotments of cotton and rice.

Officials said that payments are made as soon as governmental agents can determine the terms of the agreements with the soil bank agreements to underplant. Payments in the wheat and corn producing areas will get their payments a little later because their planting seasons are generally later.

Farmers are being cautioned that the government will retain the payment should they use the retired land for any production purposes before next year.

Nixon Seeks to Calm GOPs Hot Over Adams Deal

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon, seeking to calm Republican Jitters over the Sherman Adams controversy, says party leaders should close ranks and not panic.

In a pep talk Friday night to Republican state chairmen, Nixon said:

"The trouble with Republicans is that when they get into trouble they start acting like a bunch of cannibals."

Nixon's words were reported by two state chairmen who said the vice president made no direct reference to Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

A growing number of Republican congressmen have called for Adams to step out or be fired in the light of his acknowledged acceptance of favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Many Republicans feel GOP election prospects this fall will be harmed if Adams remains as top White House aide even though President Eisenhower says he needs Adams.

But one state chairman, Aphonso E. Bell Jr. of California, said Nixon without mentioning Adams' name, expressed doubt the controversy will have much effect on the November elections.

Thomas G. Judd, Utah state chairman, quoted Nixon as saying Republicans "should pull together regardless of the circumstances."

Nixon was host to the chairmen at the windup of a campaign school here. During that meeting, the chairmen split on the Adams issue when their views were sought by reporters.

Meanwhile, Rep. Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said the Adams controversy "can only be harmful" to the GOP at the ballot box this year.

New calls for Adams to quit came Friday from Republican congressional ranks. One such call was voiced by Sen. Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, who won Eisenhower's praise in 1954 for the job Watkins did as chairman of a committee that recommended censure of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Oren Harris (D-Ark.) announced that Goldfine has agreed to appear July 1, with records, before Harris House subcommittee that touched off the Adams incident. The subcommittee has been investigating alleged pressures on federal regulatory agencies.

Adams has told the subcommittee he accepted favors from Goldfine as an old friend and also contacted two federal agencies about cases involving Goldfine, Adams acknowledged imprudence, but said he never sought to swing agency decisions in favor of Goldfine.

Earth Survey Data Being Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 11 months more than 10,000 scientists in 96 nations have been giving the earth a sort of physical examination.

Many of their findings were included in testimony and reports by the National Science Foundation to a House Appropriations subcommittee which made public its transcript today.

At the rate man is feeding carbon dioxide to the atmosphere, there is a possibility the world may become a much warmer, less healthy greenhouse.

"Mountains float on the earth's molten interior like icebergs. The space through which this planet swirls is not a simple void, but is filled with thin gases representing the outer reaches of the sun's atmosphere."

If 10 per cent of the volume of ice in the world melted, large sheets of water would cover the globe. Scientists estimated the globe's ice content at 3,240,000 cubic miles. With closer inspection of the Antarctic they now figure the ice estimate was 40 per cent short.

The sea is an apparently rich source of minerals and food. One area contained $500,000 worth of minerals per square mile.

There are vast magnetic fields in space about which we know little.

In tinkering with the nuclear fission (hydrogen bomb) man is duplicating the sun's processes in the process of energy, and this coupled with a greater understanding of the pull of magnetic forces may develop into new methods of propulsion through space.

Farmer Arrested in Hit and Run Death
HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Sheriff D. E. Ealey said today that A. J. Hammond, 65, a Kenner, Mo., farmer, had been arrested in the hit and run death of an elderly boy.

Ealey said Hammond and four others held as accessories were in jail at sunset.

The cyclist, Frank Warnick, who lived in the Arbor Grove Community, was found dead on Highway 60 near here Monday.

Scientists to Take Part in Bloc Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States notified Russia today that a Canadian scientist as well as U.S., British and French experts would take part in negotiations with a Soviet bloc panel on ways of policing an atomic test suspension.

This meant that on the Western side scientists are being drawn from four countries whereas the Soviet bloc group has been discussed in terms of Russia, Czech and Polish scientists. It appeared that Russia might now add a scientist from some other country—possibly Red China—in a bid for what the Soviets call parity in negotiations.

The scientific talks are due to open at Geneva July 1.

The Canadian is Dr. O.M. Solandt, former chairman of the Defense Research Board of Canada and now vice president for research and development of the Canadian National Railroad.

Seven Western representatives were named in a new note delivered in Moscow.

Adams Puts Republicans on the Spot

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans apparently hope a substantial upturn in business will come along soon to get them off the political hook of the Sherman Adams controversy.

GOP members of Congress are divided in support and opposition to President Eisenhower's decision to keep Adams at work as his right-hand man despite the furor over Adams' acceptance of costly favors from millionaire industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

But few Republicans doubt that the Adams incident has hurt their chances of re-election in about the same degree that Democratic candidates were affected by corruption charges against the Truman administration in 1952.

The Republican hope is that there will be more important—and more cheering—matters to discuss in September and October, before the general election vote.

Fundamentally most of the Republicans have felt that the economic situation in October is likely to be more influential on the election results than almost any other single issue.

It was for that reason they were cheered with Eisenhower's report to the Republican state chairmen that there are some clear signs of a business upswing.

Newsman were given no details of the picture Eisenhower painted in response to the state chairmen's questions. But a number of government reports on sales, inventories, employment and other indicators have shown gains in recent weeks. The Assn. of American Railroads reported Thursday that last week's freight carloadings reached a new high for 1958.

Federal Reserve officials reported that while current easy money policies are being continued, they no longer see a need for pouring more millions into the money supply.

On the other hand they indicated no present plan to raise interest rates or take other anti-inflationary steps.

The economic picture remains clouded, with conflicting indications.

National Chairman Paul M. Butler told a Democratic rally in Gary, Ind., Thursday night that "the Republican administration is attempting to cover up the real unemployment situation by adding up small seasonal gains in an effort to present a rosy but false picture of the nation's economy."

Butler said the Department figures show 13 of every 100 workers in durable goods lines are jobless. He said 16 of every 100 in transportation equipment and 14 of 100 in primary metals are unemployed.

Butler coupled criticism of what he called the "Eisenhower-Nixon inflation" with a new attack on Adams. He said the cost of living has gone up $2.25 a week under the Republicans.

"To an administration that thinks nothing of accepting lavish gifts, it is understandable that $2.25 a week doesn't make much impression," he said, "but to the unemployed worker it may well mean a meal for himself and his family which he cannot afford to buy."

One Committee Cuts
Its Own Budget
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives received today its Appropriations Committee report on a recommendation that it cut its 1959 budget by $100,000.

If the House will operate on $30,320,805 during the year starting July 1, an increase of $61,600 over funds for the current year.

Moukey for expenses of the House is contained in a $80,942,114 appropriation bill which also includes the Capitol architect, the Botanic Gardens, the Library of Congress and the Government Printing Office as well as joint Senate-House programs.

Star Newsboys Leave Today for Camp-Out on Top of Mt. Magazine, State's Highest

DRY RUN in erecting new 12-by-12-foot tent which the Hope Star carrier boys will use on their Mt. Magazine expedition was put on in the cow-barn at Fair Park Friday afternoon. In the picture are the six carriers from Hope, (with a seventh to be picked up at Prescott en route Saturday.)

It took the boys an hour and a half to get the tent up Friday, but as a result of the drill they will cut this time in half Saturday night when actually on top of Mt. Magazine.

Seven prize-winning Hope Star carrier boys — six from Hope and one from Prescott — will leave Saturday noon aboard two station-wagons for a camp-out cook-out on top of 2,900-foot Mt. Magazine, highest mountain in Arkansas.

Driving the cars will be A. T. Washburn, the newspaper's publisher, and C.M. (Pod) Rogers, Jr., circulation manager.

Carrying a new 12-by-12-foot tent, air mattresses, and food and other supplies for nine on a two-and-a-half day outing, the expedition will head for Hot Springs, then to Ola on State Highway No. 7, and from Ola west on Highway 10 to Innava — where a slide-road starts up Mt. Magazine.

The boys will camp out on the mountain Saturday night. Sunday will be spent at other mountain resorts, with a second campout in a site still to be determined — returning home about noon Monday.

The six Hope carriers are: Ronnie Norvell, Mike Braden, Edward O'Steen, Leon Prince, Ray Tullis, and Jimmy McGuire. The seventh boy's name was not available at this writing, but he is whichever one of the Prescott carriers who won the circulation contest ending Friday night.

Winners in the Negro division are Joe Duffie and John Henry Hendrix. With Mrs. Sammy Hendrix, John's mother, they are spending Saturday in Shreveport on a Star expense account.

The trips this week-end celebrate a carrier contest which has brought Hope Star's city circulation back to par following the price rise of last September 1. Previous to the price increase the carriers' paid circulation was 2,020. This week it is 2,019 — only seven copies short.

UA Medical Wing to Cost No State Cash

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman of the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees told the Legislative Council today that a proposed medical wing of the University Medical Center here would require no state funds.

Henry S. Yocum, of El Dorado, said the estimated two-million dollars needed to build the wing would come from private funds and federal matching money.

Yocum said the entire board appeared before the council to answer questions on Medical Center operations. The questions were submitted by state Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County.

Van Dalsem asked Dr. Douglas Lawrason whether Negro patients had preference at the Center over white certified by the state West Texas Department. Lawrason is provost at the Center.

No such preferential treatment is given to Negroes, Lawrason said. He added that about 55 per cent of the patients currently treated at the Center were Negroes — the same ratio that has existed for several years.

Yocum said the new wing would now be under construction.

They will join other Arkansas young people and travel via bus. Stops will be made in New York City, Washington, D. C. and Niagara Falls.

UA Board Adopts Employment Policy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas Board of Trustees last night adopted a statement of policy concerning employment of faculty members for pay.

Dr. John T. Caldwell, university president, said the new policy did not depart significantly from existing policy but was worded in a more positive fashion.

Full-time faculty and staff members are "encouraged to engage in outside employment which will affirmatively contribute to their professional advancement or correlate usefully with their university work," the new statement said. There should be no conflict with regular university duties.

A separate provision says that clinical faculty members of the School of Medicine shall not be involved in the private practice of medicine in the sense that professional fees are collected. Certain affiliated teaching is not included.

The trustees voted to sell in the highest bidder the University Graduate Center in western Little Rock. The center will move into the old School of Medicine building which is being remodeled.

Demonstrations Flare Against Nagy Execution

BONN, Germany, June 20 (UPI) — Some 400 Hungarian students and West Germans attacked the Soviet embassy here tonight and smashed windows in the third Western European flareup against the execution of Hungarian freedom Premier Imre Nagy.

Police swinging rubber clubs arrested 19 demonstrators in a 20-minute scuffle. When others demanded their release, another outbreak started.

The Hungarian students and West German friends gathered from Aachen, Hamburg, Hannover and other cities to mass outside the embassy with placards, black-ribbed Hungarian flags and large portraits of Nagy and Gen. Paul M. Mielor, the rebellion military chief who was executed with the premier.

Soviets Plan to Beat U.S. Agriculture

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party today announced another step in Premier Khrushchev's plans to beat U.S. agricultural production by giving Russian farmers more incentive to grow more.

The party's Central Committee announced collective farms no longer will be required to deliver a large part of their output to the government at a fixed low price.

Instead, a pricing system will be established for the entire output of collective farms. It aims to introduce an element of competition for low-cost, efficient production.

A report on the Central Committee meeting of about 250 members on Tuesday and Wednesday also said two men were promoted to alternate membership in the committee's ruling Presidium, the key unit of power in Russia. It has had 15 full members and 9 alternates.

The two are N.V. Podgorny, first secretary of the Uranian Communist party, and Premier D. S. Poliansky of the Russian Federation, largest republic in the Soviet Union.

There was no mention that the Central Committee meeting produced a shakeup in the Kremlin leadership as Western observers had speculated might be taking place. Both the changes in the agricultural system and the promotion of Podgorny and Poliansky indicated Khrushchev still was in control.

The committee decisions were based on a farm policy speech by Khrushchev. Publication of the speech — possibly Saturday — may clarify some points left vague in the published plan.

The announcement said the new plan will go into effect this year but did not specify when.

The committee made clear, however, that it is not relaxing controls over production. It said under the new pricing system, all quotas to the state must be maintained. Presumably the surplus still will be available for the open market.

It also decreed an end of the payment-in-kind system. Collectives had paid with their products for such services as machine plowing. Past payment-in-kind debts were written off and independence in compulsory deliveries also was abolished.

Khrushchev's proclaimed goal in changing the agricultural system established under Stalin is to overtake the United States in farm production. The committee report boasted that "in recent years the Soviet Union has approached the volume of U.S. agriculture output in a number of products. In certain items (it) has even surpassed the level attained in the U.S.A."

Bride of 2 Months Drowns at Manila

MANILA, Ark. (AP)—A 16-year-old bride of two months drowned while wading in a rain-filled pit yesterday.

Mrs. John Wayne Wolford of Boyleville stepped into a deep hole.

Her two cousins, Katie Currier, 16, of Manila and Katie's brother, Robert, 15, narrowly escaped the same fate.

When Mrs. Wolford stepped into the hole she pulled Katie with her and Robert sprang to aid them. None of them could swim.

The youth said he had a brief grip on his sister, lost her, sank to the bottom of the hole and then managed to struggle up the sloping side to shallow water.

Help in answer to screams of Robert's mother, Mrs. Kate Currier, came from a nearby industrial plant.

Katie was hauled from the water by swimmers and revived. Mrs. Wolford was dead when she was brought to the surface.

Group Calls for Full Probe of Goldfine

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican member of a House investigating subcommittee called today for an inquiry into all of Bernard Goldfine's contacts with federal officials during the last 10 years.

Rep. John B. Bennett (Mich.) said "I'm of the opinion that (Sherman) Adams is not the only official of the federal government who has enjoyed Goldfine's hospitality."

Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, has testified he accepted gifts and favors from Goldfine, a wealthy Boston industrialist, on the basis of a long friendship. He said he also got in touch with two federal agencies on matters relating to Goldfine, but denied he sought special treatment for the Bostonian.

Bennett spoke in an interview with the Pentagon disclosed that more than a quarter of a million dollars worth of textile contracts have been awarded to Goldfine's companies since the Eisenhower administration took over in January 1953. The Pentagon supplied the figures on request, with no implication of influence or wrongdoing.

In a separate development, the Securities and Exchange Commission unanimously denied that it dropped a case against one of Goldfine's firms after an inquiry from the White House prompted by Adams.

Southerner Elected Head of Jaycees

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Bob Cox, Chapel Hill, N.C., was voted president by acclamation of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce early today after 15 deadlocked ballots among four candidates.

Cox led from the first ballot but never got the majority required to win. The voting started at 1:30 p.m. yesterday and continued for about 12 hours, with time out for dinner.

After the 15th ballot, Clarence Blizier of North Canton, Ohio, moved as spokesman for the other three candidates that Cox's election be made unanimous "for the good of the organization." The other two candidates, seconded the motion and delegates in the Junior Chamber's national convention unanimously approved the motion.

The atmosphere in Shrine Auditorium resembled that of a national political convention as candidates' supporters shouted, paraded and roared their delegations' votes.

The deadlock was broken after 40 of the 51 Junior Chamber "States"—including Alaska, Hawaii

Would Free CAB of Responsibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two administration spokesmen urged today that the Civil Aeronautics Board be shorn of all responsibility for establishing air safety rules.

This was the principal change advocated by Undersecretary of Commerce Louis S. Rothschild and Civil Aeronautics Administrator James T. Pyle in a bill to create a new federal aviation agency.

Testifying before the Senate Aviation subcommittee, they expressed hope that Congress would pass the legislation with the amendment proposed by the administration.

Probers Give Adams a Very Easy Time

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House subcommittee probing Sherman Adams' relations with Bernard Goldfine is neither the sharpest, toughest nor most thorough group that ever quizzed a witness on Capitol Hill.

The treatment given Adams when he went before the subcommittee compared with that handed other witnesses in other cases before other committees—was almost like a once-over lightly with a feather-duster.

On June 10 the subcommittee disclosed that Goldfine, an industrialist, had footed more than $2,000 in bills run up at his expense at a Boston hotel by Adams, President Eisenhower's chief assistant.

This caused such a storm that on June 12 Adams wrote the subcommittee, acknowledging he had stayed at a Boston hotel and charged it to Goldfine. He added something which the subcommittee apparently didn't know: that he had done the same at a hotel in Plymouth, Mass.

On June 13 at a news conference James Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary, referred to Adams' letter and said he believed the President's No. 1 aide had "put on the record all the facts."

As it turned out, Adams hadn't put all the facts on the record. On June 16 the subcommittee discovered that Adams had stayed at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York at Goldfine's expense, although he didn't mention that in his letter.

Adams confirmed that when he appeared before the subcommittee June 17, he also informed the congressional group in his testimony, but not in his letter, that he had received from Goldfine goldfine's mills $89—for a coat and that Goldfine had given him an "on loan—an expensive oriental rug."

The information about the vicuna and the rug didn't come from the committee—in fact, subcommittee counsel Robert V. Lishman said he didn't know about either—but from a reporter and a newspaper.

A reporter asked Hagerly June 12—the same day Adams wrote his letter—if it was true Eisenhower's aide had received a $700 vicuna coat from Goldfine.

On June 13 the New York Post reported that Goldfine and Adams had picked out a $2,400 oriental rug at Macy's in New York. Goldfine paid for it with a check drawn against one of his textile mills, the paper said.

Hagerly refused to confirm or deny the statements. But he did say that day he believed Adams had put all the facts on the record in his letter and said Eisenhower didn't think Adams had done anything improper.

Eisenhower, at his June 18 news conference, while expressing belief in Adams' honesty, admitted he thought Adams had been imprudent.

But when Adams went before the committee no attempt was made to find out why the facts he gave in his testimony about the Waldorf-Astoria, the vicuna coat and the rug hadn't been given in his letter.

Counsel Lishman did quiz Adams about the information the investigators had. But the only one who got for Goldfine from federal tried to go deeper into Adams' relations with Goldfine was Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.).

But even Moss made moralistic speeches. So did the other committee members who said anything at all, including the chairman, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.). With the possible exception of Moss, none of them made any attempt at vigorous questioning.

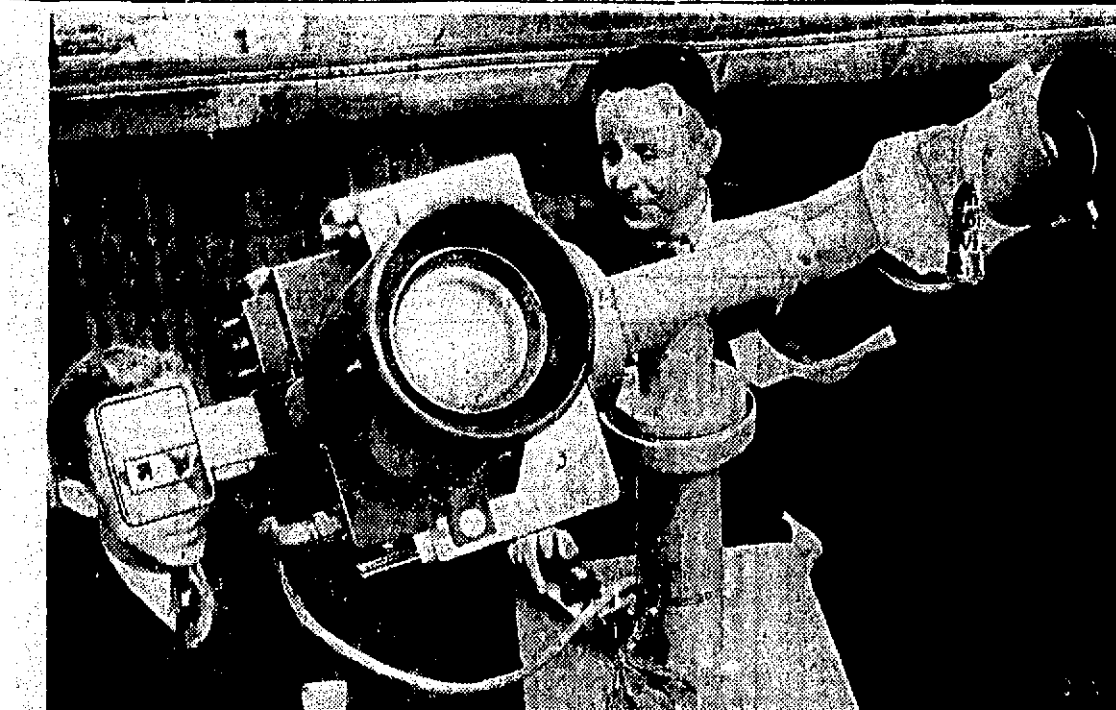

Wald and the District of Columbia had announced their votes on the 15th round.

On the 14th round Cox had 1,177 votes; Blizier, 524; Wallace R. Heatwell, Wayneham, Va., 431; and Richard J. Lynch, Kansas City, Mo., 343.

Cox, a former football player and later assistant football coach at the University of North Carolina, owns a men's clothing store in Chapel Hill. He succeeds Charles E. Shearer Jr., Shelbyville, Ind., as president.

Thomas O'Leary of North Little Rock, Ark., was elected a vice president.

Legion and Auxiliary Hold Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary was held Monday night at the Hut. A bountiful potluck supper was served to the 75 members and guests that attended. Commander Maurice McLellan presided and Chaplain Loyce Anderson gave the invocation.

The boys and girls who represented the Legion and Auxiliary at Boys' State and Girls' State at Camp Robinson were guests at the meeting and spoke of their experiences at the week long camp. Reports on Boys' State were given by Jimmy Worthington and James Cummings. Jim McKenzie and John Henry Harrison who also attended the camp were unable to attend the meeting. Interesting accounts of the week at Girls' State were given by Jane Kitchen, Marion Buchanan, Nelda McBrayer, and Eileen Esquire.

A trio composed of Mrs. Woodrow White, Mrs. Tom White and Mrs. George N. Cox entertained the group with several gospel songs. They were accompanied at the piano by Martha Grimes.

Following the program the Legion and Auxiliary held a business meeting at which time officers for the new year were installed in an impressive ceremony by H. H. McKenzie. Installed were: Albert Peachey, Commander; John T. McKee, First Vice-Commander; Bob Davis, Second Vice-Commander; Loyce Anderson, Adjutant; Maurice McLellan, Chaplain; Rip Ingersoll, Sergeant at Arms; Horace McKenzie, Judge Advocate; W. S. Black, Historian.

Parents of the delegates to Boys' State and Girls' State were guests at the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Albert Peachey, Mrs. William Willis and Mrs. Burke Shelton.

Gary and Mike Simpson celebrated their son's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Don Simpson honored their son Gary and Mike with a lawn party at their home on Monday afternoon to celebrate their third and sixth birthday anniversaries.

A variety of games were played after which cake, popovers, and cookies were served. The white birthday cake was topped with the inscription "Happy Birthday to Mike and Gary." Candy, gum and balloons were given as favors.

The guests included Donna and Eddie Daniel, Debra Hodges, Nina Bell and Ricker Lamborn, Andy and Diane Sarrell, Randy and Nell Hastings, Bill Wendell, Gail Wells and Rosemary Lee.

Ann Ballou has party. Ann Ballou celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary with a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bolton, on the lawn of their home on Tuesday afternoon. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations.

A variety of games were played during the afternoon. Cake, ice cream and pink fruit punch was served from the refreshment table spread with a white cloth. A cut glass basket filled with pink petunias and roses formed the centerpiece. The white birthday cake decorated in pink was topped with a pink basket holding pink flowers. Pink and white bubble mints in miniature flower baskets were given as favors.

Guests for the occasion were Vicki Sue Cornelius, Mike and Angela Payne, Al and Glenda Martindale, Genevieve Kuiba, Mary Jane Cunningham, Ginny Gray, Dorothy and Debbie Covington, Tina Bolter, Lemuel, Debra and Brenda Harris, Martha Pruitt, Billy Jean Bolton, and Patricia Lynn May of Doughty. Mr. Bolton was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Kirkham, the honoree's maternal grandmother, and Mrs. Glib May of Delight.

Mrs. Monroe Ir Hubbard and son, John Dwayne, arrived Friday for a visit with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hubbard. They were joined Friday by Mr. Hubbard. He is a forester for the International Paper Company and lives at Manny, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sloan and Melissa have returned to Jonesboro after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilbert.

Mrs. H. J. Wilson has recently returned from Little Rock where she was the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Ted Smiley and Jimmy of Oklahoma City, Okla., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Yancy. They were accompanied by Steve Bird who is visiting Mrs. J. R. Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis and Jeffrey have returned to Houston, Texas after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Davis and Mrs. Gene Cummings.

Miss Mickey DeVore represented the First Presbyterian Church at the Senior High Summer Camp at Russell last week.

Mrs. Max Bryant attended an Area Conference for local board members of the Selective Service System in Arkansas held in Miami, Fla. on Thursday.

Also attending were Mrs. Paul Koslosky, Miss Elizabeth Koslosky, Mrs. E. Adam, Mrs. Paul Kader, and Jack Davidson.

Senators for Tax Cuts Renew Drive

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators favoring anti-recession tax cuts renewed their drive today, encouraged by a surprise vote to wipe out levies on passenger tickets and freight.

The Senate sharply rebuffed the Eisenhower administration and its own leaders Thursday night as it voted repeal of the World War II transportation taxes, despite pleas that such action might open the way to cuts elsewhere.

Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) pressed ahead with another proposal for cutting the automobile excise tax, while Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said he planned another stab at reducing taxes on small business.

The Senate was called into session an hour earlier than usual in an effort to complete action on these and other amendments to a House-passed bill to extend present corporation and major excise tax rates for a year beyond June 30.

Both Republican leader William F. Knowland of California and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas opposed the amendments to repeal the 3 percent freight tax and the 10 percent levy on passenger tickets.

The amendment erasing the freight levy was adopted 99-25, with 33 Democrats and 26 Republicans joining forces to write it into the bill. Voting against it were 10 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

The vote approving repeal of the 10 percent levy on passenger fares was 50-35. Twenty-seven Democrats and 23 Republicans voted for repeal, while 17 Democrats and 18 Republicans voted against it.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has estimated that repeal of the freight tax would cut revenues $487 million dollars and the passenger fare levy $230 million, a total of $717 million annually.

Just before the vote Knowland appealed to the Senate to reject the amendment in the right of "the cold, hard facts of the budget situation."

The transportation taxes apply to rail, highway, water and air shipment and travel.

The amendments written into the bill by the Senate will force the measure to go back to the House before final action can be taken.

The Senate Finance Committee had urged acceptance of the House bill without change, to prevent a drop of $2,000,000,000 in tax revenues.

"The Senate defeated amendments to repeal or to cut the 10 percent levy on excise tax to make a broad six-billion-dollar cut in income taxes for the rest of the year."

TOWN TAMER

By FRANK GAUBER

THE STORY: Upon learning that Riley Condon, an old enemy, would be in Great Plains, Tom Rosser accepts a position as "town tamer." The job was of "taming" the railroad which seeks to attract settlers to Great Plains.

CHAPTER VI

Rosser got off the stagecoach in Great Plains and looked down the street at raw, unpainted buildings and wondered if this was the place where he would play out his last hand.

His eyes picked out a two-story building of considerable size. A sign across the front read: Mountain Hotel. Rosser walked to it and entered.

There was one room available. Three dollars a day. A bed with sheets cost a dollar extra. Rosser said he would do without sheets.

He carried his bag up to the room. It was about six feet wide and 10 feet long. Two walls in the wall served in lieu of a closet. There was a narrow iron cot, a washstand with a pitcher and bowl, a straight-backed chair.

The Army blankets on the bed had not been laundered too often. Rosser unpacked his bag. He buckled his cartridge belt about his waist, tying the bottom of the holster about his thigh with a leather thong.

He left his room and went out upon the street. There were wagons loaded high with railroad ties, machinery, food, supplies for the railroad; horsemen, a trapper or two from the Sweetwater country; Indians who had taken to wearing white man's clothing; hard-visaged men from boom towns throughout the West.

Rosser's eyes fell upon a big two-story building a few doors away. He walked down the street, saw that the building bore a crude specimen of the sign painter's art, reading: Montana Pleasure Palace. Underneath in straight block letters, was the name: Riley Condon.

It was a combination saloon, dance hall and gambling casino. There were two bartenders behind the long bar. Later, when the railroad reached Great Plains, there would be seven or eight men behind the bar. There was room, enough for them.

One of the bartenders had worked in Condon's place in Broken Lance. He was polishing a glass when his eyes fell upon Tom Rosser. The glass crashed on the floor.

"Hello, Peter," Rosser said carefully. "Mr. Condon isn't here," the bartender blurted out. "He—he's out of town."

Rosser nodded. "That's all right. I expect to be around awhile."

Rosser nodded again and started for the door.

"Sure," said Honsinger carelessly. He made a flicking gesture in the general direction of Rosser's low-slung Navy gun. "Heard you stopped wearing that."

"Not yet," Rosser said.

"Well, when you're around here, old man," Honsinger said nastily. "You're not wearing a badge, you know."

Bright Spot in Dismal Summer TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's one bright spot in the otherwise dismal TV picture for summer: That's Sunday at 9.

Amid the welter of reruns and cheap quiz shows comes a top-notch musically cast to replace Dinah Shore on NBC. Dinah's program has been the most consistently entertaining one on TV during the cooler months. Her replacement shows promise of keeping up her high average.

John Raitt, Janet Blair and Eddie Adams will head the weekly roster, starting Sunday night. They'll have frequent assists from Royan and Martin, Stan Freberg, Jonathan Winters and Dorothy Kirsten. Not bad for a summer show.

It happens that the sponsor is selling cars faster than the other Detroiters. Raitt said in a press show. "The firm naturally wants to keep up the pace with a top-drawer program. The singer added further reasoning on the expensive show."

1. Sponsor identification of Dinah's show is high, and they want to keep it that way.

2. The show attracts a preponderance of viewers in the intelligent, over-30 category, a prime market for new autos.

3. The Sunday 9 spot is ideal for summer viewing, since most folks will be indoors and home from weekend outings.

The 10-week stretch is the first time Raitt has taken on a regular show, and he's pleased that he has been accepted on his own terms.

"I'm not going to sing again. I'm not a rock 'n' roll singer. I like that," he said. "Both Janet and Eddie have had serious vocal training, so we'll be able to do some good songs together."

ed for the door. Peter's eyes held on him until he passed through, then he cried out hoarsely: "Slim."

A cold-eyed, lean man of about 36 sauntered forward. "That man who was just here," the bartender said, "watch him the next time he comes in."

"He's somebody?"

Peter bobbed his head. "Tom Rosser!"

Slim Atkins whistled softly.

Coming out of the Montana Pleasure Palace, Tom Rosser saw a squarish log building across the street. There were iron bars across one of the windows and a newly painted sign beside the door read: Sheriff. He crossed the street and entered the building.

A lean man, somewhat over six feet in height, sat behind a plank desk. A dismantled rifle was before him and he was peering down the heavy octagonal barrel. He lowered the rifle barrel and his eyes met those of Tom Rosser.

"You're the sheriff?"

"That's right." The sheriff got to his feet. "My name is Parker, Wes Parker."

"Tom Rosser," Rosser extended his hand.

The sheriff reached out to take it, then stopped the hand in mid-air. "Tom Rosser?"

"Yes."

Parker whistled softly. "Maybe this sheriff's job wasn't such a good idea, after all."

"It usually pays pretty well. Especially if it's a fee office."

"Oh, it's that, all right, but—Parker's forehead creased—"you're just passing through. . . I hope?"

Rosser shook his head. "I'm figuring on staying awhile."

"A frown creased the sheriff's forehead. "If you'd come a couple of weeks sooner, you'd probably gotten my badge . . . or the marshal's. If that's what you want."

"I don't want either job. I came to Great Plains for land."

The frown remained on Parker's face. "I never heard of a lawman quitting."

"Usually he gets killed," Rosser said quietly.

A slight young man of about 25 entered the Sheriff's office. A brown paper cigarette dropped from his mouth. His hat was tilted back from his forehead, and his eyes were slitted to a squint.

"Our marshal," Wes Parker said, "Johnny Honsinger. Johnny, this is Tom Rosser."

Honsinger regarded Rosser without emotion, his eyes scarcely widening as he sized him up.

Parker said cheerfully. "He's taking up a ranch."

"Sure," said Honsinger carelessly. He made a flicking gesture in the general direction of Rosser's low-slung Navy gun. "Heard you stopped wearing that."

"Not yet," Rosser said.

"Well, when you're around here, old man," Honsinger said nastily. "You're not wearing a badge, you know."

Sports in Brief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pitcher Leroy Kysar accounted for all of his team's 21 putouts in a Pony League game last night.

He fanned 20 batters. Only in the third inning did he fail to get a strikeout and in that inning he picked the runner off first base here, has been named to the base.

Kysar's team won 3-2.

The young pitcher gave up both runs in the last inning before settling matters with another strike out.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Wayne McElrath of Egypt, Ark., three strikeouts and in that inning a student at Arkansas State College here, has been named to the

It is regrettable that the history of the human race always has proven that hindsight is so much more clear than foresight. Were the reverse true, think how much grief and suffering could have been avoided, not to mention the needless expenditure of money.

A case in point, very much in point now that fishing has gained its present level of popularity, is the matter of public access areas to good fishing waters. More and more each year the question of access to fishing waters is becoming an increasingly difficult—and expensive—one to answer.

In the State of Maine, the matter of access to fishing waters was taken care of many years ago insofar as lakes are concerned. By law, if a lake be more than five acres in area, then the public has an easement across the lands of riparian owners in order to reach that lake. Just as simple as that—if the lake be five acres or better, help yourself.

Pennsylvania, while protecting the rights of riparian owners, long ago adopted a rule of stocking which does put some pressure on the land owners. The Fish Commission simply does not stock the waters on or near land which is posted with trespass notices. Thus, should the riparian owners be fishermen—they usually are—access is provided for public use.

Along the seaboard, the matter of public access grows more serious each year. Ten years ago a fellow could walk or drive to the beaches of south Florida and the Florida Keys pretty much as he chose. Not today. More and more ocean and gulf frontage is being closed off.

To a state whose big money crop is the winter tourist (and most of them like to fish this situation seems to be incredibly shortsighted. However, Florida has now joined the other 28 states which have adopted a public access program to provide permanent public access areas, not only to salt but to inland lakes as well.

Sport Fishing Institute of Washington, D. C., being directly concerned with the matter of access areas, conducted a national survey to see what could be learned. They have come up with some interesting figures.

As stated earlier, 28 states, as well as Alaska and British Columbia, have instituted a planned program to acquire access areas to fishing waters. Tennessee had a veritable windfall when TVA gave to the state 254 access sites on its famous reservoirs. Not counting these, however, the grand national total so far comes to 470,553 acres of lake-fishing waters thrown open to public fishing through the procurement of 1,579 access sites. On these, 888 boat-launching facilities have been constructed.

With rivers and streams the estimates are a bit more difficult to obtain, but at least, 5,200 miles of these waters have been made available for boat travel by the access program. In addition, 1,182 miles of bank fishing, previously closed, are now available to the public.

This accomplishment has not been cheap. The total cost of the access areas to date has been $9,173,100. Of this amount, $2,600,787 has been supplied by the Dingell-Johnson Federal aid funds originating from fishing tackle excise taxes. The remainder was paid from revenues derived from the sale of fishing licenses. None of the outlay came from general tax revenues.

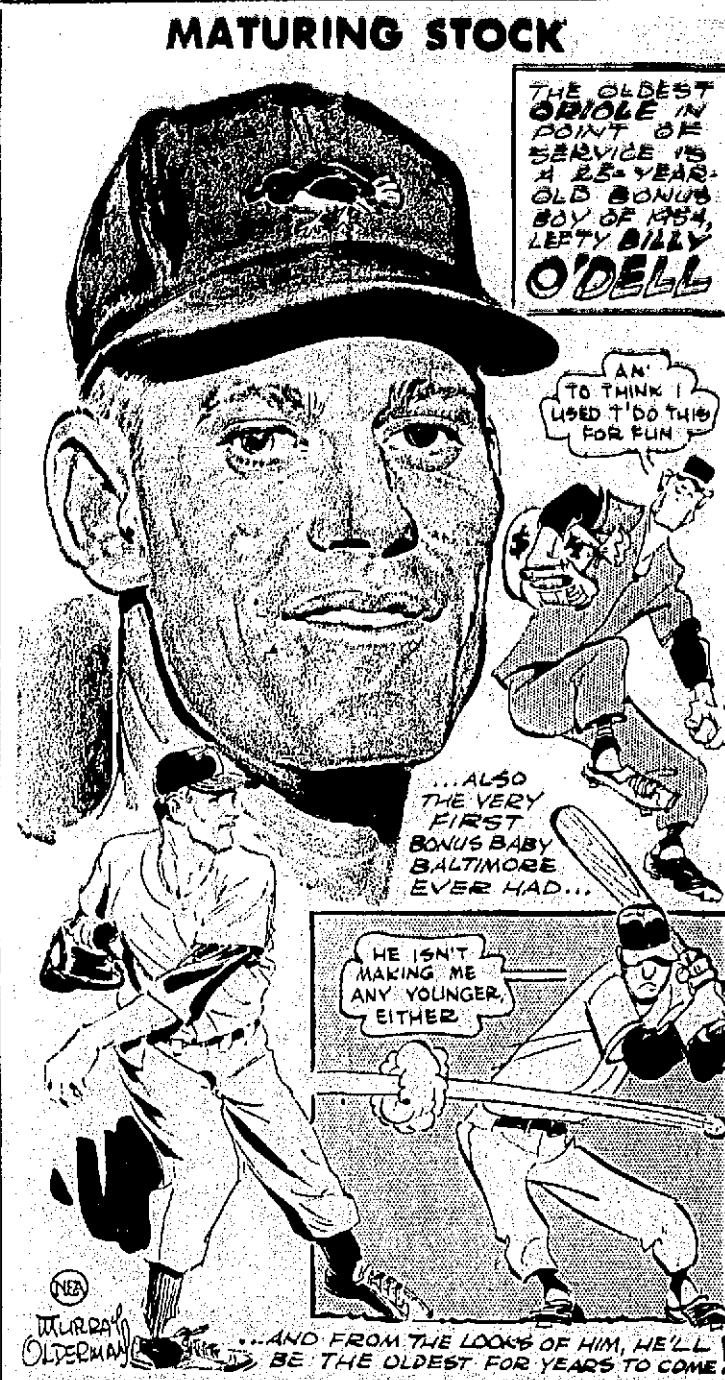

All of this accomplishment, while indeed a step in the right direction, is, in fact, only a short step when national totals are considered. Conservatively, the inland waters—lakes and ponds—in our nation comprise 46,000,000 acres, of which 13,000,000 is in farm ponds. How many thousands of miles of fishing rivers and streams we have is anybody's guess.

Based on present figures, to insure public access to our lakes and ponds a total of $640,000,000 will be needed. This, you agree, is a staggering sum, 14 times the total amount spent annual for all phases of fish conservation in all of the 48 states.

Even then, the figure does not include the cost of access to salt water and to rivers and streams. These constitute just as large a headache as the access for lakes and ponds.

Fortunately, the job does not have to be done immediately and the financial pain can be lessened somewhat by spreading the program over a number of years. But it is a job that must be done if we are to continue to have public fishing to meet the increasing demand. Here's wishing our Conservation Commissions all success with the job.

Jockey Dies Following a Spill

INGLESWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A spectacular spill in a stakes race at Hollywood Park Thursday brought a violent end to Jackie Westrope's 25-year riding career.

He passed the pack on the outside and was ahead 70 yards from the wire, when his mount bolted into the rail. Westrope was thrown.

The 40-year-old former national riding champion hit the rail so hard a track official said he bent almost double backward around it.

He died less than two hours later, despite plasma and oxygen. Westrope began big-time racing at 15 and in that year—1933—raced 240 winners to become national champion in ensuing years.

He had 2,439 winners from 17,136 mounts. In many winners he ranked first nationally with a total of $3,944,000.

Seven Soldiers Court Martialled

CAMP ZANA, Japan. (AP)—Seven U. S. soldiers, including two from Arkansas, have been court martialled in connection with the theft of $80,000 worth of goods from the Army Quartermaster Depot at Camp Draw near Tokyo, the Army announced yesterday.

Those convicted included Pfc. Charles D. Hood, 19, of Brinkley, Ark., and Pfc. Benny R. Herron of Fort Smith.

Hood, tried by a general court, drew a dishonorable discharge and three years imprisonment.

Herron was convicted by a special court, fined and sentenced to six months confinement at hard labor.

Army spokesman said there was no evidence of an organized ring in the thefts of clothing and other items from the depot. The thefts occurred between last December and April.

Ike to Talks of Civilians and Military

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—President Eisenhower came to this Marine base today for a review of America's global defense strategy.

The President arrived in the rain after a 45-minute drive over the 35 miles from Washington. He had intended to make the trip by helicopter but heavy rain washed out that plan.

Old soldier Eisenhower is here for a Defense Department annual conference which brings together all the top brass—military and civilian—in the nation's defense establishment.

He was greeted on arrival by Secretary of Defense McNamara and Lt. Gen. Merrill B. Twining, commander of the Marine Corps schools.

He went directly to a briefing on the Pacific situation by Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander in chief of all U.S. Pacific forces.

The President also arranged to be on hand for morning talks by Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Christian A. Herter, undersecretary of state.

The President was not scheduled for any formal talks at the defense sessions, but there was a possibility he would speak informally at one of the meetings.

Eisenhower may choose to stress to the generals and admirals his strong belief in the importance of his plan for streamlining the administrative and command structure of the military establishment. All business sessions of the three-day conference are held behind closed doors.

There is some opposition within the military services to various features of the reorganization program. The House has passed legislation to authorize streamlined measures, but some of its provisions have met with Eisenhower's objections. The bill now is before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Secretary of Defense McNamara assigned to Deputy Secretary Donald A. Quarles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff the job of reviewing the administration's reorganization program.

A new conference Thursday, however, indicated still further cuts in military manpower may be expected.

Another Film Actress in Love Again

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—"I'm in love," said Marie McDonald, her large eyes unblinking. Harry Karl again? No, no. That's all over, she said.

"I've got my final decree, thank heaven," she explained, speaking of the shoe manufacturer she has sometimes been married to.

The new man in her life is George Capra, a moneyed co-owner of Las Vegas' Flamingo Hotel. He's the reason she stayed over in Las Vegas last week after finishing a singing date at the Desert Inn.

"If we can work it out, it does," she replied. "He's trying to get a divorce from his wife, from whom he has been separated for seven years."

Though she's enjoying the upsurge in her career which began after her 24-hour disappearance a year and a half ago, she's willing to give it all up for George.

"He wants me to quit working, and I might," she said. "I like my work, but I am willing to make sacrifices for real values."

Marie disclosed these secrets on her first day of film work in seven years. She is returning to co-star with Jerry Lewis in "Gelsin Boy."

Marie seemed unharmed after her weekend adventure in Nevada where she was taken to a hospital after an overdose of sleeping pills.

Her explanation after a gay evening, she swallowed six tranquilizing pills by mistake and called her doctor. No after effects.

Marie said she still hopes to see justice done in her disappearance and reported the case is still being investigated. "If it's a hoax let them prove it," she challenged.

The actress told authorities in January 1947 that two men kidnapped her from her home and held her prisoner for 24 hours. A truck driver found her 130 miles away in the desert. Police and the county grand jury investigated, but no arrests were ever made.

Miss Universe Contest Starts

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Contest began here today in the contest to name Arkansas' representative in the Miss Universe contest. Eighteen girls are seeking the state title.

The winner, who will be announced tomorrow night, will receive an expense-paid trip to the national pageant at Long Beach, Calif., later this summer, a vacation on Peih Jean Mountain and a wardrobe.

The entrants are: Bonnie Brown, El Dorado; Sandra Felt Brown, Fort Smith; Catherine McCreary, Magnolia; Mary Jean Stewart, Magnolia; Betty Curren, Searcy; Mary Sue Bates, Batesville; Carolyn Graham, Russellville; Janice Hampton, Elkins; Nancy Hill, Little Rock; Emily Holland, Jonesboro; Bonnie Mace, Holland; Sylvia Martin, Mena; Anna Teresa Miller, Cassville; Barbara Adams, Norfork; Julia Mae Rumph, Camden; Gladys Stewart, Bradley; Gail Swilham, Conway; and Nancy Tucker, Crossett.

Herbert Campbell of West Memphis, the 1952 title holder, will crown the winner.

Financial Picture Has an Old Look

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The financial stew today contains three ingredients that look like an odd mixture:

1. A record short interest—borrowed stocks sold in belief that prices are due to tumble.

2. First earnings reports for the past six months—showing in the main that profits continue to slide, while the number of firms reporting a cutting of dividends because of it steadily mounts.

3. A general and long rise in stock prices—either in belief that times are due to get better or that more inflation is inevitable.

The bears who are selling short seem to take the earnings decline more seriously than do the bulls who apparently think the profit squeeze is a temporary thing and can be eased.

The New York Stock Exchange says that in the 27 years it has been reporting the short interest that barometer of bearish sentiment is now at the record high.

The American Stock Exchange also reports a record short interest.

To sell short you borrow stock in expectation of buying it back later at a lower price. If you do, you make a profit. If you can't, you lose.

Last Friday, after five straight months of rising, the short interest on the big board totaled 5,793,105 shares involving 1900 of the 1933 stock issues listed, but representing only 0.1 per cent of the total outstanding shares.

When the big board started keeping records in May 1931, the short interest was 5,889,700 shares, which at that time was 0.4 per cent of the much smaller total of shares listed.

Those selling short believe that the stock they borrowed is overpriced in relation to its earnings and prospects. They expect the price to drop before, and the mounting federal deficit coupled with a new burst of inflation.

The earnings reports now coming in comfort the bears more than the bulls.

Reports so far from 48 companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar one, show 23 have lower first six month earnings than last year. Combined their earnings total $102,098,000, compared with $112,250,000 in the first half of their previous fiscal year, or a drop of 9 per cent.

Three of the companies operated at a loss this year and four did the year before.

The decline in profits for the 42 companies as a whole foreshadows similar reports by the great majority of companies which will come along next month. The profit squeeze is in contrast to previous years when earnings were mounting. The first half of 1937 showed a 44 per cent gain over 1936, which had been 0.8 per cent higher than 1935. That year had backed up a whopping 447 per cent increase over the first half of 1934.

Many of the optimists think that sales volume will rise and that the government's new budget will be a help. They also think that the decline of profit margins, that such a failure will impair dividend rates, and that current stock prices look too high.

Except The LORD Build The HOUSE They Labor In Vain That Build It

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED

In this age of juvenile disturbance it is time for all of us to act.
It is time to be a friend to the friendless. Time to set examples, solicit respect. Here is a broken hearted lad who is in trouble, and deep. He is one of many who don't know which way to turn.
His father wicked and his mother's spirit is bent... which way shall he take? Evidently he has started in the right direction.
God's Word is open and his heart is broken. He is repentant and that is a good place for God to begin work.
Here is opportunity for God's people to work.
Here is where confidence in a troubled youngster will pay dividends in church membership community betterment.
May all of us alert ourselves to opportunities to serve.
